

Anne Eriole – Destination Specialist

To Travel Is to Live

Born and raised in New York I am currently living in the Albany New York area. I am a Destination specialist who loves to travel and help others plan there dream vacation.

Customer service is my mission. I go above and beyond for my clients. Working within their budget whether it is a couple, single traveler, group family reunion, business convention or wedding destination.

Working with World Travel Specialists has helped me gain the knowledge and expertise in many areas of travel. I hold many certifications that offer my clients different destinations which I have expertise.