

Jim Rozzi – Destination Specialist

Hello, fellow travelers, I am new to the travel industry, however, I am not stranger to travel. I have lived and traveled in over 33 countries, and I have literally criss crossed the United States from the Arctic Circle to Key West and from Hawaii to Maine, and many points in between.

I like to travel, discover new and exciting places, or sometimes just relax on the beach. I have jumped out of perfectly good airplanes, crawled through wild caves, swam with dolphins, rafted, snowmobiled, four wheeled, skied, tubed, jet skied and once had breakfast with an orangutan, and I would love to help you do any or all of the above.

In my world, all things are possible and the customer is always right. I have a high amount of attention to detail and will go above and beyond for my clients. I am a currently a certified Sandals consultant and PADI diver, so whether you are planning a family vacation, cruise, or group trip, give me a call, I will be happy to serve you.
