

Jennifer Mancuso – Destination Specialist

One of my core beliefs in life is to make sure that you take the time to enjoy life – even the little things. Personally, the beach is my happy place no matter how near or far it is. That being said, All-Inclusive resorts in the Caribbean, Mexico, Central and South America are my specialty but can help with any destination you want. Whether you would like a small intimate resort/hotel or a place that is lively and upbeat – we can get you what you are looking for! I am also a registered nurse and a new mom and look forward to traveling with my little guy to all sorts of destinations local and international. Looking forward to making your travel dreams come true!